IN THE SICK ROOM.

The children have retired, but Mrs. Sheridan refuses to leave her husband's side, spending at short intervals, when she is forced from her bed, time enough down on a lounge close to the General's bed.

The indications justify the assertion that the General cannot recover, and the physician is not sure that he will die within the next few hours.

THE GALLANT SOLDIER ENTERING THE DARK VALLEY.

His Death Likely to Occur at Any Moment--He is Ready for the Dread Summons.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE RECORD-UNION.)

Copyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 27th--General Sheridan is still alive. All day long there have been callers at his house. The colored man at the door has taken all cards, and Colonel Blunt and Colonel Kellogg, of Sheridan's staff, have been constantly on duty at the General's house to meet visitors and inform them of the General's condition. These officers, the physicians and members of the family have ceased to attempt to conceal the dangerous condition of the patient, and this fact is argued to be one of the worst features of the case. As long as it was possible, the officers immediately surrounding the General endeavored to conceal the grave character of his affliction, and to substitute for heart disease, of which he is suffering, some other form of nervous prostration. These officers who have given out these misleading reports perhaps should not be too severely blamed.

In the event of General Sheridan's death his brother Mike would be assigned to duty. General Sheridan is the founder of the Leland Stanford Junior University of California. The general objects of the institution are set forth in the articles of endowment, but there is, of course, nothing set forth in them. I have been a friend of Mrs. Sheridan since her girlhood.

DEATH MOMENTARILY EXPECTED.

WASHINGTON, May 28th--Col. Blunt was seen again at half-past 1 o'clock, and said that there would be no change for the worse within the hour. This was all he would say, which was tantamount to admitting that death was now momentary.

SLEEPING THIS MORNING.

Sheridan is sleeping quietly, and no immediate danger is apprehended. The only persons in the room are the physician and the colored man. The other is lying down, and Mrs. Sheridan has also been permitted to take a short rest. The General has had one or two slight attacks of coughing.

THE VERY LATEST.

WASHINGTON, 4:40 A. M.--Sheridan still lives.

WASHINGTON, May 27th--A bill will probably be reported to the Senate to-morrow by the Military Committee giving Sheridan the title of General of the Army.

RAIDING THE DIVES.

Two Dance Houses Pulled by the Police Yesterday Morning.

At twelve minutes past 12 o'clock yesterday morning officers Eldred and Carroll, acting under the direction of Captain Karcher, arrested W. E. Milligan, the keeper of a dance-house on Second street, between K and L, for a violation of Section 15 of Ordinance No. 17, which provides that "for each ball, dance or party where an admission fee is charged or received for the attendance of any person, or where liquor of any kind is sold on the premises," a license must be paid for.

The place kept by Milligan has been complained of dozens of times by people residing in the neighborhood and the officers have watched it closely and kept it noted with bonhams as much as possible. It has been understood that as the keeper of the place was paying a license of $35 per month he had a right to run the place, and he has tried to defend his right to do so. Section 8 of the same ordinance provides that every keeper of a dance cellar or beer saloon, where spirituous, vinous or malt liquors are sold and where the customers are waited upon, shall pay a license of $15 per quarter, but Captain Karcher says Milligan's place does not come under that section, but under Section 15, and that therefore ought to pay a license of $3 per month.

At Milligan's place females do not wait upon customers. A number of women are paid to dance with visitors, and at the end of each dance they rush their parties up to the bar and make them "treat." On Saturday night the place was crowded and business was rushing. When 12 o'clock came Milligan determined not to close and the officers arrested him and took him to the station-house. They put up a deposit, and arranged for one of the officers to remain with him until the trial. Toney Smith and Edward McAllister, to go on with the music, telling them that he had fixed it for all night.

As soon as they commenced to play, however, the officers returned and took them, and took them to the station-house. F. E. Baldwin, who keeps a similar place just across the alley on the same street, was also running, and the officers also gathered him in.

Captain Karcher says he is determined to close these places if there is a law to do it, and he believes that there is in Section 15 of Ordinance No. 17. At all events he indicates that he will have the case settled, and find out if such places can run after 12 o'clock at night with impunity.

Salute Fired in Honor of Stanford and McKeown.

The news of the final passage by Congress of a bill appropriating $150,000 for a public building in Sacramento was received with joy by the people of the city, and the executive heads of the city and county governments promptly sent telegrams to our representatives in Congress, through whose endeavors the appropriation was secured, thanking them for the good work they had done in securing the bill, and the following to Senator Lealand Stanford:

SACRAMENTO, May 26, 1885.
Hon. LEANDER STANFORD, Washington, D. C.: The people of this state are extremely grateful to you for the introduction and support of this bill for the Government building in this city. Sacramento is the home of many of your constituents, to her representative citizens in the halls of Congress. A salute in your honor and that of Representative McKeown.

EGREE J. GREGORY, Mayor.

The following dispatch was sent to Congressman McKeown:

SACRAMENTO, May 26, 1885.
Hon. Joseph McKEOWN, Washington, D. C.: The people of the city of Sacramento thank you most heartily for your untiring and zealous efforts in introducing and supporting this bill which is so much needed in this city. A public salute in honor of your and Senator Stanford is being given to you now, and we hope that your mutual efforts in our behalf.

EGREE J. GREGORY, Mayor.

The following dispatch was sent to Congressman McKeown:

SACRAMENTO, May 26, 1885.
Hon. Leeland Stanford, Washington, D. C.: The people of the city and county of Sacramento fully appreciate the efforts of your constituents, other Representatives in procuring the passage of the Postoffice building bill for this city through your influence. A salute in honor of this city, the "Principles," and the "State Printers."

Some young men, who only had two bits to go to the big game, were seen to buy a box of cards, and at the end of the fifteenth inning, thinking perhaps the management would come around and collect 25 cents extra for eighteen innings, which is equivalent to two games.

On Saturday afternoon at Snowlake Park the Rainbridge Business College gave a salute this afternoon. F. E. TEBBES, Chairman Board of Supervisors.

Hon. Joseph McKeeown, Washington, D. C.: The people of our city and county are proud of you as a representative of the people. The Postoffice building bill for Sacramento is the first important recognition we have received from the Legislature, and we greatly appreciate the action of our Representatives and the salute to fire this afternoon will in a measure testify to our feelings.

F. E. TEBBES, Chairman Board of Supervisors.
